

Gender
PAY GAP
Report
2018

INTRODUCTION

Under new legislation that came into force in April 2017, UK employers with more than 250 employees are required to publish their gender pay gap.

WHAT IS THE GENDER PAY GAP?

The Gender Pay Gap looks at the overall pay of men and women, not taking into account their roles or seniority. This means that the Gender Pay Gap does not provide any insight into Equal Pay, which is the requirement to pay men and women equally for work of equal value.

At OMD Group Ltd we are continually looking at ensuring that all our staff are paid fairly for the work that they do. OMD Group Ltd is required to carry out gender pay reporting under the Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017.

The report for OMD Group Ltd includes the Manning Gottlieb OMD Agency as well as OMD, because we all fall under the same employing entity. We believe that by analysing our data we will be able to identify actions to help us improve our position still further.

At OMD Group Ltd we are committed to championing the influence of women in leadership as we understand that inclusion and diversity leads to greater business success.

LEGISLATIVE REQUIREMENTS

- All UK companies with 250 or more employees on 5 April 2017 are required to publish specific gender pay information:
 - Mean and median gender pay gap
 - Mean and median gender bonus gap
 - Proportion of males and females receiving a bonus
 - Proportion of males and females by quartile pay band
- Figures for each legal entity with at least 250 employees on the snapshot date must be calculated and reported separately
- The mean and median gender pay gap is based on hourly rates of pay as at 5 April 2017
- The mean and median gender bonus gap considers bonus pay received in the 12 months leading up to 5 April 2017
- Pay quartiles look at the proportion of men and women in four pay bands when we divide our workforce into four equal parts

WHAT IS OUR GENDER PAY GAP AT OMD GROUP LTD?

The UK average Gender Pay Gap is 18.4%* and we are proud to report that OMD Group Ltd gender pay gap is 4.49% which is 13.91% lower than the national average.

*From the Office of National Statistics, 2017 data

MEAN AND MEDIAN GENDER PAY GAP

The mean gender pay gap is the difference in average hourly rates of pay that male and female employees receive. This gives an overall indication of the gender pay gap by taking all hourly rates of pay and dividing by the total number of people in scope.

The median gender pay gap shows the difference in the midpoints of the ranges of hourly rates of pay for men and women by ordering individual rates of pay from lowest to highest and comparing the middle value.

We have more female employees than male employees, and the spread of men and women across our pay quartiles is quite consistent.

The median figure is seen as the more representative figure, and this is the figure used by the Office of National Statistics. This is because the median is not skewed or affected by extreme values, such as very high or low-paid outliers.

Overall, our median gender pay gap for hourly pay is 4.49%, so the median pay of men is slightly higher than median pay of women.

OBSERVATIONS

Within the quartiles we are able to carry out more of a “like for like” comparison to see whether there is a pay gap between people doing similar roles. Although we do have a small gender pay gap overall, we believe this breakdown shows that people are being paid fairly for the work that they do.

This shows that when breaking down our workforce into pay quartiles, the gender pay gap almost entirely disappears, with women being paid slightly more than men in the middle upper quartile and men being paid slightly more than women in the upper quartile.

MEAN AND MEDIAN GENDER BONUS GAP

- The mean gender bonus gap is the difference in average bonus pay that male and female employees receive.
- The median gender bonus gap shows the difference in the midpoints of the ranges of bonus pay received by men and women.
- The bonus pay gap reported here is based on all bonuses paid in the 12 months before 5 April 2017, which was the FY16 bonus year. Bonuses paid from 5 April 2018 we will not be reported until 2019. We are committed to working to improving our mean bonus pay gap, but it will take some time before our work now feeds into the data.
- We are happy to report that our median bonus pay gap is zero. As we mention, this is generally considered to be the most representative figure. However, we do appreciate that the mean bonus gap figure is higher, with men being paid higher bonuses than women. To put this into context, at OMD Group Ltd bonuses are awarded on a discretionary basis to reward personal contribution and do not make up a significant part of remuneration packages. This means that a large percentage does not necessarily equate to a large monetary value.
